INTRODUCTION

Enhancing green skills through HR practices is a strategic approach that helps align workforce capabilities with sustainability goals. HR practices can enhance employee collaboration and create a sustainable profile for the organization.

1

Green Skills Development Programs

- Conduct workshops on energy efficiency, sustainable practices, circular economy, and environmental regulations as non formal education.
- Offer micro-credentials or sponsor participation in external sustainability certification programs.
- Integrate sustainability into leadership training.

2

Reward and Recognition Systems

- Offer financial incentives or recognition (bonuses, awards) for sustainable actions and innovations.
- Create “Green Employee of the Month” programs.
- Give visibility to green champions in internal platforms.

3

Collaborative strategies

- Support employee participation in community environmental initiatives (tree planting, clean-up drives).
- Partner with sustainability experts for training and mentorship.
- Organize green challenges (e.g., carpool days, zero-waste lunches).
